YOUTH UPDATE

THE CHAPTER PRESIDENT'S REPORT

to keep busy, participating in many philanthropies including Kappa Delta's Shamrock, maintaining our multi-year winning streak. Along with sorority philanthropy events, the chapter attended many keynote speeches, including one given by Brother Jeff Matsushita PC '96, about what it means to be a fraternity man in our current societal climate and ways that we can continue to strive to become better men and lead better lives. October brought about the Delta Sig National Convention, which the undergraduates were unfortunately unable to attend due to the intensity of this fall semester and midterms. Cheers to Brother Eric Pickett for ensuring that Gamma Iota was properly represented at this wonderful event. As a result of this choice to stay the undergrads instead hosted our formal dance, Carnation Ball, an event loved by all. Following the midterm season and before the fall break, the chapter held the yearly election for the executive board offices. The resulting group of leaders is sure to continue to lead this chapter in the right direction with the aid of the alumni support. Before this semester, the ACB had been the sole line of contact that the undergrads would often utilize to get this aid. With the help of Brother Michael Bivens and increased National's support, a secondary board has started to take off. The UAB, Undergraduate Advisory Board, has been a new way to ensure that the undergraduates have all the help they need to run the chapter in the day to day. The UAB has been working closely with the outgoing executive board to tailor these new advisors to give all our chapter leaders in the future multiple avenues of aid. With the presence of the ACB and now the UAB, the groundwork is being laid for the chapter to have a successful future. As we round out this year, we are continuing to focus on academic excellence, always holding ourselves to a higher standard than the past. A large thing that we are all looking forward to is the 70+2 celebration happening in the spring, an event that I hope all brothers of the Gamma Iota chapter both past and present will attend. This event will even involve the Gamma Delta chapter at Washington State, making this something that you won't want to miss. Until then, I thank all of you for the opportunity to pay back the debt as the Chapter President for this 2021 year.

This past fall semester has been one for the books, coming out of summer and back to Moscow for the fall, the chapter decided the castle could use a bit of a facelift and gave it some new life with our mulching project on the exterior during work week. We then used this energy to rush a wonderful group of guys that joined our ranks as PC '21. 9 men in total. After this the chapter made sure

SAILOR'S SPOTLIGHT

IN MEMORIUM - JAMIE "HEFF" HEFFERNAN PC 91

An annual letter has arrived at the chapter house the last several years from June Ford. Inside is a note and a donation to Gamma Iota in memory of her son. When the undergraduate members reached out to know more of the story behind this wonderful gesture, I was only too glad to tell the story and so proud to feature my pledge brother in the Gamma Eye.

Jamie "Heff" Heffernan from Buhl, Idaho was one of the most popular members of the pledge class of '91. Heff's intelligence, quick wit, and sharp tongue helped him punch above his weight class with upperclassmen. But it was his loyalty as a friend and brother that made him stand apart from the rest.

Memories of Heff, nearly 30 years ago, have never left those of us who knew him. From piling in his Subaru and heading to Banff on the annual Pledge Sneak, to campus snowball fights (Greeks vs Dorms), to seeing half of the A-Phi or Pi Phi house crowded around the House Grand Piano as he effortlessly played everything from Billy Joel to Charlie Brown's Christmas, Heff could charm anyone around him. Forever the practical joker, Heff was known to sabotage the sleeping porch, dump flour on guys stepping out of the shower, or better yet buckets of water from the Sun Deck onto unsuspecting victims below. He did none of this out of malice, but anything for the laugh. An All-American small-town kid, Heff loved baseball and it is hard to picture him without a Brooklyn Dodgers or Boston Red Sox hat, or without his John Lennon style glasses.

Others from my time in the house have fond memories as well. Brent Pargman remembers, "Heff was plucky, but everyone loved that about him. Somehow abrasive and you always wanted to be around him so you didn't miss the hilarity. And he slept with his eyes wide open. Still remember how weird that looked waking him up on the sleeping porch." "I miss his sarcasm that was direct and abrasive yet hilarious at the same time. His laugh made us all laugh together. I also remember his phrase "alright Mr. Wizard" when correcting any of our pledge brothers", recalls Larry Corneilus. One of Brian Kennison's memories of Heff, "There was a good picture of Heff crawling out of a dumpster, retrieving a frisbee in the Argonaut circa 1992-1993." Kendl Kiser says, "Loved Heff. I remember when he did wake-up calls and didn't take any guff from anyone, including Fridge." Andy Ashla recalls, "I gave Jamie a ride down to Boise once and we had hilarious conversations. My favorite was his impersonation of his barber in Buhl. One of the pieces of music that was played at his memorial was Eric Johnson performing Cliffs of Dover. I introduced him to that so I was especially emotional when I heard it".

Phone calls started to happen between the brothers on Saturday, July 24th, 1993. A tragic swimming accident on the Snake River near Hagerman had taken Heff's life. His death was devastating on so many levels. A friend had died, and for most of us, it was the first person we knew in our age group to pass. Worse yet, we'd lost a brother in the truest sense. Kirk Kludt recalls, "One of the worst phone calls I have had in my life that July day was from Eli Perry. I still think about him often, wondering what he'd be doing now."

Memory becomes a challenge but I believe that the service for Heff was held the following Saturday in Buhl. The turnout of brothers is something I'm still so proud of to this day. It was amazing to see how many Delta Sigs dropped everything and showed up to show their love and respect for Heff. We all showed up to support his life, his memory, and his folks. I still don't know exactly how it happened, but as the service was wrapping up, White Carnations started being passed through the crowd, and we each laid a flower on the altar as the procession of Delta Sigs passed by. All these years later I'm still haunted by the image of his parents who had lost their only child. As a dad, I can imagine no greater pain.

There is no shortage of brothers who feel exactly as I do when thinking of him. "RIP Heff, he was a good man, miss him still today" says Dave Morasch. Adam Cochran, "Just an all around great guy that everybody loved." "Heff was a class act and a great brother" Mark Harris.

Though we only had Heff in the house for two years, we are blessed to still have him in our hearts. His parents would be proud to know the impact he has had over the years, and the legacy he has left on Gamma Iota.

RUSH REPORT

Pledge Class 2021

With the turn of the school year and renormalization of the Greek life experience following the peak of the Covid Pandemic last year, recruitment at the Gamma Iota Chapter of Delta Sigma Phi is looking up.

Following an intense summer of recruitment dinners, activities, meetings, and planning, the fruits of our efforts manifested in our PC 21 class consisting of 9 new members. William Murray from Las Vegas, NV, Kinesiology; Cole Barrett from Sacramento, CA, Virtual Technology and Design; Benjamin Jones from Blackfoot, ID, Political Science; Ethan Kroll from Aurora, IL, Geology and Business; Brock Keller from Pocatello, ID, Environmental Science and International Studies; Brogan Bates from Rexburg, ID, Biotechnology and Plant Genomics; Zachary Tiedemann from Boise, ID, Environmental Science and International Studies; Josh Rardon from Fargo, ND, Pre-Athletic Training and Criminology; and Alex Van Auken from Middleton, ID, Mechanical Engineering.

Most of our new members include those that we reached out to during the summer, proving the effectiveness of a supported summer rush program and becoming hopefully a staple of the position.

Besides keeping the chapter afloat financially and in membership, the new PC has proven to be leadership oriented and eccentrically representative of the men we strive to recruit. Benjamin Jones, a gentleman we met up with in Idaho Falls during summer rush, will now be taking over the reins as our Director of Recruitment. He will be joined on E-Board by two of his other PC brothers as well. Josh Rardon as Secretary and William Murray as Treasurer. They will be excellent.

Moving forward, our elected rush chairman positions have been tweaked, as noted by the aforementioned new title "Director of Recruitment". Rather than place the majority of recruitment activity and correspondences on one or two men in the house, Benjamin will serve as a director of a few rush chairmen that he will hand pick spanning across all classes. As the saying goes, everyone is a rush chairman, as is our intent in increasing our contact points for potential new members.

This also marks the end of our term as Co-Rush Chairs for the chapter, and though the ending is bittersweet, we have great faith in the future of our chapter. Cheers to the house, rush chairs of the past, and rush chairs of the future.

YITBOS,

Co-Rush Chairs

Work Week 2021

INTRODUCING OUR NEW REGIONAL COMMISSIONER - TERRY BUTTCHEN '77

I received an email from Terry last April introducing himself as the Regional Commissioner for the Northwest which includes Idaho, Oregon, and Washington. After that email and a lengthy discussion about Gamma Iota he has been a great asset to Gamma Iota. The primary goal of his position is to support the National Fraternity's strategic vision for those chapters within the region. He carries an impressive Delta Sig resume. He was initiated in 1977 at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville, Epsilon Delta Chapter. At the 1981 National Convention he received the Outstanding Active Award as an undergrad. From 1982 to 1987 he covered the California and Midwest Regions in separate stints as District Governor. Following those positions he served on the Grand Council from 1987 to 1995. His current position reports directly to the Grand Council and he is responsible for the UAB, ACB and Alumni Chapter of the five active chapters within his region at Idaho, Boise State, Washington State, Oregon, and Oregon State. He is an unpaid volunteer and I have been so grateful for his commitment.

A personal goal for the region is to have the NW chapters and alumni of each communicate and work on projects together whether it be philanthropy, recruiting, fundraising, etc.. One of the highlights of his undergrad days was visiting other chapters in the area. It gave him new ideas for his own chapter and he hopes to facilitate that for the NW. In my conversations with him his primary objective is to help recruit as many alumni volunteers to each chapter regardless of where they were initiated. Give them the resources and information HQ has to offer and connect them with Directors of Volunteer Engagement as needed. It is also important to him to recognize and celebrate the volunteers within his region. If you are interested in serving in any capacity as an alumnus or have any questions, please contact him at Northwest@deltasig.org.

We are very fortunate to have a dedicated individual that can provide a unique perspective that can only help Gamma Iota improve.

2021 NATIONAL CONVENTION REPORT

LOS ANGELES, CA.

Westin Bonaventure Towers

It was the convention that almost wasn't. Originally scheduled for July, the dates had to be pushed out because of the COVID restrictions in place for Los Angeles. There was also concern if enough alumni and undergrads would register in time to even have the event despite being moved to October. Through promotion and alumni from several California chapters registering in big numbers, HQ was able to move forward with one of our best traditions on a national scale. Because of a conflict with midterms none of our undergraduates were able to attend. I would have loved to share that experience with them but I commend them for putting school first.

The Westin Bonaventure in downtown LA was the site of the convention with a Hollywood theme throughout the 3 days. The hotel has also been used for filming parts of multiple major motion pictures including True Lies, In The Line Of Fire, Heat, and Hancock just to name a few. Thursday night kicked off with a welcome reception on the outdoor plaza. All guests were given a large stick-on Hollywood Walk of Fame star to inscribe as they wished. I felt "Gamma Iota" and "Go Vandals!" represented what needed to be said for the chapter. Friday started off with the opening ceremony which included fraternity business and a keynote speaker. A luncheon was held to honor the undergraduates followed by multiple business meetings the rest of the afternoon. To wrap up the day the DSP Foundation held a reception and auction. It was announced at the auction that the Our Brothers, Our Future campaign had not only met its $15M goal, but exceeded it reaching $17.2M.

Saturday morning started off with the Bond Eternal ceremony where all the alumni who have passed since the last convention were displayed on giant screens. Each member present then stepped forward and placed a white carnation on a table in the center of the room. For those who have never experienced this long standing tradition at convention, it is very moving and I felt honored to have laid a carnation for all of our Gamma Iota brothers who have entered the Bond Eternal. Fraternity business followed where several amendments to the constitution were passed. Another luncheon was held this time celebrating alumni volunteers and awards were handed out. Free time was that afternoon where attendees could go out and explore the city. Feeling old and tired, I opted for a nap in my $200 a night sleeping porch! Got up just in time for the group convention photo before the evening's festivities.

Saturday evening started off with what has become one of the most popular events at recent conventions, the Justin Wine Tasting.

Justin Baldwin is an alumnus of San Jose State and owns one of the largest wineries in the US. There were four wines available and he detailed each one and gave recommendations for accompanying food. Next was the big event of the weekend, the Awards Banquet. All the major National awards are given out during the dinner including the Bartell award. It was my honor to meet the two newest recipients and welcome them to the club, Glenn Hay, Michigan State '75 and Greg Stayin, Virginia '86.. The new Grand Council was introduced including our new president Tom Archer. His passion and commitment were evident in his words to the assembled guests. We are in good hands. Outgoing President Jim Larsen has led our fraternity through times unlike anything we have ever experienced and we all owe him a debt of gratitude.

When I attended the 2019 convention it was such a rushed trip I had little time to participate in most of the events. This convention was time well spent and anyone who has never attended one, I recommend to experience this great tradition at least once. Convention 2023 is in Austin, TX.

THE DELTA SIGS GIVE

Coming out of the pandemic, the undergraduates of our chapter have shown charity and generosity in full force. This semester, we participated in six of the sororities' philanthropy weeks: Kappa Alpha Theta's Rock the Casa supporting CASA/GAL; Gamma Phi Beta's Power of She Week supporting Girls on the Run and Alternatives to Violence of the Palouse; Delta Zeta's Speech and Hearing supporting The Starkey Hearing Foundation; Alpha Phi's Phi Ball supporting women's heart health; Kappa Kappa Gamma's Kappa Klassic supporting mental health and wellbeing through six organizations; and Kappa Delta's Shamrock supporting Prevent Child Abuse America. For the sixth year in a row we came in first for Kappa Delta's Shamrock. Across all philanthropies, brothers donated over $1,500 to support these causes. As the fall semester ends, brothers are looking forward to the Bike to Boise ride, raising money to support the Hope House, and the alumni dinner fast approaching in the spring. Thank you to all brothers, undergraduates and alumni, for your generosity and support towards philanthropy that donate to these charities and good causes.

INTEL FROM THE UAB

We are nearing the end of the first semester of the Undergraduate Advisory Board (UAB) having been organized at the time of this writing. Our board may seem new to those reading this article; however, we were previously known as Collegiate Chapter Advisory Board (CCAB), with Headquarters mission to continuously improve processes and support for chapters this organization was redeveloped to accompany those goals.

With every position filled and having successfully navigated the relationship-building phase, we are preparing to move into next semester with a new undergraduate executive board and to begin understanding how we can collectively develop pathways forward to building a more highly functioning chapter that recruits and retains membership, enhances the fraternal experience, and improves the wellbeing of the undergraduate men.

Joining myself on this board, I have the following brothers:

Mil DeSilva PC '06, Co-Lead Advisor

Jarod DeLay PC '16, Campus Experience Advisor

Thomas Entwit PC '14, Finance Advisor

Kendall Kaiser PC '88, Membership Experience Advisor

Tyler DeLay PC '11, Growth Advisor

John Schisel PC '06, Risk Advisor

This first semester's focus was entirely on building a working and trusting relationship between the membership and the UAB to prepare for moving towards achieving success. This success will be tracked through several metrics that I will be sharing through quarterly reports, including status updates and insights from data being gathered. Look for it on the Facebook Alumni page or contact me at the email below. We currently have data being gathered for academic performance, recruitment, retention, and recruitment budget allocation. With the intention of building surveys to understand developmental needs, brotherhood, and overall satisfaction with membership experience to ensure we fully understand the health of the chapter. Understanding this data will allow us to address underlying issues within the chapter and where improvements can be made.

The chapter has pledged their support of the UAB and are taking steps on their side to assist in this process. I am confident in our mission and our ability to take the necessary steps to build better men.

I look forward to serving the undergraduates and the Fraternity through this opportunity.
