

ΔΣΦ

The Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity, Gamma Iota Chapter.

Better Men. Better Lives.

THE GAMMA EYE

Published By: Wyatt Tatakis (Alumni Relations Coordinator in Training) Edited By: Thomas Entwit (Alumni Relations Coordinator) & Eric Pickett (ACB Secretary)

HERE'S TO THE TRIANGLE

Credit: Thomas Entwit

Tye-Dye Everything With Delta Sigma Phi on the Tower Lawn September 17, 2017. In total we raised $475 in one afternoon with all of the proceeds going to Oppurtunities Unlimited, a local non-profit focusing on vocational skills and job services for the developmentally disabled.

By: Wyatt Tatakis

My Lord what a great start to the year we have had, Gamma Iota is back and better than ever baby! It's truly amazing what we've been able to accomplish in just the past few months with the hand we've been dealt. Although we didn't have a phenomenal turnout from the first Fall Rush of 2017, we were able to snap another four New Members within two weeks of school starting, and it looks like we may even have enough for a second pledgship within this year! Recruitment has been a huge continuous goal of us, finding men better than ourselves, enlarging and enriching our chapter with our New Members. With our open wide policy to the public, PNM's choose us knowing this new culture we have been building is here to stay.

Besides rebuilding chapters' strength we've also been working to rebuild relations with many of the other houses on campus. With such a small chapter size you'd think we wouldn't be able to really participate in any of the Sorority's Philanthropies and have a major impact right? Wrong! So far with only 10 men we have gone three for three winning the all of the sorities main philanthropies this semester. And we plan on keeping the tempo up. It just so happens that they were not only our current Dream Girl's (Pi Beta Phi), but also last years Dream Girl, (Kappa Delta), and also Delta Zeta's. It goes to show, with a little bit of effort we can accomplish anything as the men we are, and the better men we become by doing so.

Do you know what else makes a better man? Well we all know it's tedious tasks like painting cabinetry and door frames. That's right, the kitchen is finished! Since the first time since the beginning of the renovation, we can use real plates, we can use the dishwasher, we can have an open kitchen. Thanks to the efforts of our current members, some of which were able to reinstall soap dispensers for the dishwasher and rehang the cabinets, we have a brand-spanking-new kitchen that will last.

Hold on to your hardhats because this issue is just jam packed full of new information, among it you'll find:

Youth Update, Intel from ACB, The Reno, Better men, Better Lives, Ongoing Campaigning Continues, and Sailor's Spotlight.

INTEL FROM ACB

MESSAGE FROM THE ACB VICE-PRESIDENT

We have started the summer on a positive note. The Chapter has been taken off sanctions by the school and we have been allowed to participate in all Rush activities. While we are still on probation we have the support of the University. The Dean of Students has been very impressed with the response of both current members and the Alumni. In fact, the primary reason the chapter is still on campus was due to the Alumni response.

That being said the work has just begun. We face many challenges in rebuilding the chapter. It is imperative that we continue to build on the Alumni involvement. Ongoing donations of time and money are critical to keep Gamma Iota as a viable Fraternity on Campus.

The members of ACB are determined to rebuild the chapter the "right way". We will not be taking kids for the sake of numbers. We will look for new members who can serve as the foundation for a new Fraternity moving forward. We must evolve as a chapter in order to survive. ACB's goal is for Gamma Iota to serve as the standard by which all other fraternities on campus are measured. We will accomplish this by adhering to not compromising the values of Delta Sigma Phi. Men of Courage, Men of Action, Men of Excellence.

I challenge each member reading this to get back involved. It has been my privilege to get back involved with the Chapter and the Alumni base. I have worked with some great men and look forward to working with many more. The interaction with the Brothers both young and old has reminded me why I became a Delta Sig and why I want others to have the same opportunity.

Y.I.T.B.O.S.

ACB President
Brendan Boyle

SAILOR'S SPOTLIGHT

JOHN HEFFNER

THE BROTHER WE HOPE TO BE HALF AS COOL AS ONE DAY

By: Eric Pickett

I met Brother John Heffner in the Spring of 1980 during high school visitation week. He stayed with us in the Corner Club. I was immediately impressed with him and excited as the current rush chairman about a great prospect that we already had the inside track on for fall rush. I remember my disappointment when I learned he had accepted a debate scholarship to Carroll College in Montana. Fortunately he transferred to Idaho the next year, came through rush and pledged the house. He was always a leader and it came as no surprise when he was elected Chapter President. John says of his time in the house, "As I look back at my experiences at Gamma Iota, it is clear the fraternal bond taught me the value of fostering strong relationships, and in helping others succeed, you achieve success yourself. Among the friendships I treasure the most, my fraternity brothers are at the top of the list. The fraternal bond is very important and will last a lifetime". Two of his most important relationships from Gamma Iota are Father Sean Raftis PC 84', the family priest and Terry Judd PC 82', John's financial adviser for the last 30 years. John graduated with a degree in Communications/Advertising.

Upon graduation John reached out to Brother Rick Sparks PC 76' for an introduction to Procter and Gamble helping him secure his first job after college in Phoenix, AZ. During his time there he met his wife of the last 26 years, Kristine. Promotions and new opportunities quickly followed with Unilever, Revlon, OPI, and currently as CEO of Drybar, the largest hair blowout salon in the world. He was interviewed earlier this year on CNBC along with the owner of Drybar.

John's achievements in the corporate world is only part of his story. He has found success in all things outside of work from his long term marriage to pursuing many personal interests. I am always amazed what pops up on John's Facebook page from his travels, to famous people he meets, events he attends, and organizations he is part of. Couple of highlights from just this year include a live broadcast debate with Edward Snowden from the other Moscow (Russia), throwing out the first pitch at a Minnesota Twins game, boating the back side of Molakai Island in Hawaii, dinner with Dustin Hoffman and Sergio Garcia right before the Masters Golf Tournament, and training with the Navy SEALs. He has traveled extensively to all corners of the world and attends multiple sporting events and concerts every year.

Of all his interests, his one true passion is music. For the past ten years John and his wife have sat in the front row at the annual Grammy Awards in Los Angeles through his connections in the music world. "I have had the good fortune of meeting all the artists on my bucket list, and I am pleased to report that 99% of them are wonderful people". His two favorites are Sir Paul McCartney and David Grohl. He says of them, "Two of the nicest people you will ever meet". Especially since Sir Paul was kind enough to sing happy birthday to Kristine backstage for her 50th. Next time you are watching the Grammys, keep an eye out for Brother Heffner. I spotted him in 2015 rocking out to AC/DC's Highway To Hell while sporting devil's horns along with Katy Perry.

With all of his success and interaction with the affluent and famous, he has not forgotten where he came from. He credits that to his family and time on campus. "My experiences at The University of Idaho instilled in me the value of staying grounded and keeping what is important in life always in mind". He also knows the importance of giving back. These are some of his philanthropic efforts he is most proud of. Serves on the industry advisory board for the City of Hope Hospital and Cancer Research Center where he has been instrumental in raising millions of dollars for breast cancer research. Founding board member of the Naval Special Warfare Family Foundation which funds programs for families of Navy SEALs who are on missions or have been injured or killed in action. Former board chairman for Professional Beauty Association which serves the interests of US manufacturers, distributors, and salon owners. Past chairman of the San Diego Chapter of the Young President's Organization, a global organization of company presidents and CEO's for shared learning. He has also financially supported the chapter the last two years to help revive the Old Castle.

When asked if he had any advice for the current undergraduates he said the following. "Master the art of effective communication, put yourself out there, always find ways to help others, and view life through the adventure lens. Doing these four things will dramatically increase the odds of success, not just economic success, but success in life" It has been 37 years since I met Brother Heffner and I always knew he would do well. He joins a long list of Gamma Iota alumni that have succeeded in all facets of life and I am proud to call him a fraternity brother. His one last bit of advice for anyone is my favorite. "It really breaks down into two words...be nice! It's just that simple.

John and his wife live in Carlsbad, CA. They have two sons. Andrew, a senior at Colorado State and Christopher, a junior at Notre Dame.

Y.I.T.B.O.S.

Credit: Eric Pickett
Eric Pickett PC 78'

Credit: Eric Pickett

"Master the art of effective communication, put yourself out there, always find ways to help others, and view life through the adventure lens" -John Heffner PC 84'

INTEL FROM ACB

COLLEGIENT CHAPTER ADVISORY BOARD (CCAB)

By: Mil DeSilva

CCAB? What the heck is that? CCAB stands for Collegiate Chapter Advisory Board, and it is the primary level of volunteer support for Delta Sigma Phi undergraduates. Members of the CCAB are advisors for the day-to-day operations of chapters, serve as mentors, role models, and help with guiding students to lead and advance the chapter for longevity and growth. CCAB is all internal operations and differs from ACB where they manage external operations for a chapter. The main purpose of CCAB is to successfully instill the groundwork of the Pyramid Program.

Myself, Johnny Shields, and Thomas Entwit spent time collaborating in person and via conference calls early this summer submitting a well-developed foundation of information to nationals. With this effort we are well on our way to being nominees of the Pyramid of Excellence award presented by nationals.

This board is very new and we are learning how to make it better every day. At this moment there are 5 members and we are needing someone to fill the role of Finance Advisor. If you feel you want to help mentor young men into professionals of tomorrow where upon graduation they stand out among their peers then reach out to me.

- Lead Chapter Advisor-
Mil DeSilva (PC 04)
- Faculty Advisor-
Michael Ashcraft (PC 04)
- Membership Advisor-
Cj Lodge (PC 06)
- Risk Reduction & Education Advisor-
John Schisel (PC 06)
- Recruitment & Retention Advisor-
Nate McLean (PC 94)
- Finance Advisor-
Postion in Recruitment

Y.I.T.B.O.S.
Mil DeSilva

Credit: Thomas Entwit

Home sweet home, The Castle in all it's glory, and almost complete thanks to the help of all the Alumni.

THE RENO

EXCLUSIVELY DONE BY ALUMNI WORK PARTIES

By: Ken Herzog

Brothers of Delta Sigma Phi; This time a year or so ago our beloved fraternity took on a new and bold direction. Guided by fierce determination and a group of alumni and undergrads, we went head first into tuning the clock back on the old girl. And at over 100 years old she has certainly earned the chance at a makeover.

You have heard the stories and the tales are true. The house was literally emptied one truckload at a time. The total number of loads will remain a mystery, but don't be fooled, it was in the high double digits. What we all thought would never end finally did and the real work became glaringly visible. Highlights from the bottom up look a bit like this. The basement floor was basically soaked with water so we pulled up all wood and scraped it clean to the concrete. For the first time since I can remember that one particular odor, only native to the basement of DSP, like no other basement was gone. We also fixed the basement stairs landing that was literally hanging on by a spider web. Moving up floor-by-floor all the rooms have been emptied to the sheetrock and in some cases the studs. There are a bunch of pictures on the Delta Sigma Phi Facebook page.

Highlights on the first floor start with the framing out and nearly finishing the live in advisors quarters, including a brand new bathroom and shower. The dining room has been completely worked over including refinishing the floors. The kitchen has not only been cleaned up, but also really spruced up with new cabinet doors and a fresh coat of paint from top to bottom. Outside the front of the house has a whole new set of handrails and lights. I never thought it could look so good again. Thanks to Brother Vaughn Wasem, PC 70' for his investment of time and money to make sure the new porch railing was "fraternity grade".

...Second floor as mentioned before was cleaned to the bones. The head and shower have been completely gone through. Thanks to a real cold winter we managed to freeze some pipes and with one thing leading to another we replaced a great deal of the plumbing in the house. Head and shower will have all new sinks, toilets and stalls. The laundry plumbing was updated and hopefully we won't see any deep freeze problems again. We hired some professional help and with a great score on some doors found by Beau Brazier PC 94' and transportation to Moscow provided by Andrew Yates PC 05', we managed to put a new door in every room, solid core and very sturdy with all new trim. The interior and exterior fire escape doors have also been or started to be repaired.

The sleeping porch has been cleaned out like never before. Pulled down all make-shift mini rooms and partitions. The fire escape doors have all been fixed and the makeshift sleeping caves have been fortified. The head is getting new fixtures to take advantage of all the new plumbing and the new doors all look fantastic.

To top it all off we have new roof! Goes real well with the updated sundeck covering from a couple years back. Took a lot of work and perseverance, but the old girl has a new 50 year composition hat on her. Thanks to Mark Dooley PC 86' for his guidance and working with the contractor on this project. Next steps are to update the rain gutters and find a way to get the trees trimmed and in many cases cut down. Hopefully we can still take Adam Jacobson PC 97' up on his offer to help with the take down of the trees once he recovers from a torn tendon. Insurance and eventual costly damage forces us to get this done sooner than later. Not only are some from the trees causing havoc on the gutters and roof, but there are a couple pushing their way into the foundations. Which is in pretty good shape for the most part and only needs cared for to keep up it's integrity.

It's been a great year of progress made possible by alumni donations of time and treasure. However, we have a long way to go brothers. The entire electrical system is completely suspect. We have to finish each and every room in the house along with the remaining items in the heads, shower and advisors quarters. We need closets built in every single room as the old ones were nearly 50 years old according to some magazine and calendar found in the Corner Club. We need to modernize with appropriate materials, fixtures and locks. All new flooring is needed in every square foot of the house, except the dining room. The exterior of the house has not been touched for a decade. We really can't do much to the brick other than care for it, but the siding and exterior paint is in complete disarray. The old brick fence needs to come down as it cannot be repaired to the satisfaction of the county or our insurance providers. Retaining walls along the sidewalk, driveway, alley stairs and dining room all need to be reworked. The list goes on and on and we will continue to need man and wallet power of each and every member of Gamma Iota to keep the dream alive and turn the clock back on the old girl. So I say my brothers, join a work party and join in the fun. I promise it's a better time than you can imagine. If you can't attend a work party, consider donating and challenge at least 5 brothers from your era to match you.

Cheers to the house, cheers to the triangle.

YOUTH UPDATES

A LETTER FROM THE CHAPTER PRESIDENT

Our goal in rebuilding the chapter began with recruiting the right men, who will uphold the new culture we establish. We successfully grew from a 4-man E-board, to 10 men using a selective process in collaboration with ACB. Under our newly established risk management and academic polices, as well as a new pledging procedure shaped in collaboration with nationals, the chapter established new membership criteria such as: mandatory club and campus involvement, mandatory committee positions within the chapter, and each man performing 10 volunteer hours per semester.

These new procedures were designed to demonstrate Delta Sig's ability to move-on from a toxic culture, and reassert itself as an organization that benefits the community and contributes to the growth of its college men. With enough manpower to maintain chapter functions we looked to the outwardly, and began our efforts to re-establish the Delta Sig's active status in the wake of our suspension.

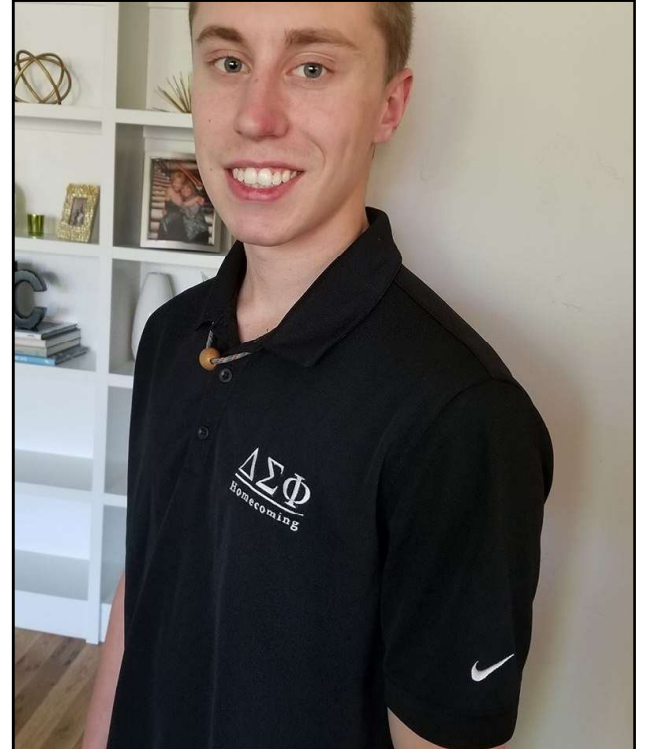

Through the fall semester Gamma Iota participated in numerous sorority philanthropies and established a new Tie-Dye philanthropy that involves the whole campus, not just greek life. We are also working to adopt a street inside the city of Moscow, and create a Sock-drive to benefit homeless shelters. We hope the culmination of all these events will set the tone to the campus that Delta Sig is rebuilding, in a better direction than ever before.

Six-months-ago, I compared our recent history to that of a forest fire, and as an opportunity to build anew. I am proud to say that we have done just that, without having to lose everything. As with any pledge class it is important to strengthen the bond between the individuals pledging and the chapter. With the backing of our alumni we've managed to persevere despite numerous setbacks, and an important part of that was keeping our chapter facility. The pyramid still stands as the bastion of our Brotherhood, for both undergraduates and Alumni and for that we are eternally grateful. To show our appreciation we have engaged in our own work parties, restoring the kitchen, building a new sign for the corner and installing a new sliding glass door.

We, the undergraduate chapter, are eagerly looking to the future and spearheading a campus-wide culture change. We wish to thank the Alumni for their confidence, generosity and passion in this process. It is our chance to match those traits, by holding our chapter to a set of standards that the Alumni may continue to support, and take pride in their membership of this chapter. We wish to thank the Alumni for their confidence, generosity and passion in this process. It is our chance to match those traits, by holding our chapter to a set of standards that the Alumni may continue to support, and take pride in their membership of this chapter.

Y.I.T.B.O.S.
Jonathan Shields
Pledge Class, 2014
Chapter President, 2017

Credit: Johnny Shields' Facebook

Our fearless leader-- Johnathan Shields

BEING THE GREAT CHANGE

How Do We Do It?

At the conclusion of Spring Semester 2017, Gamma Iota was down to four members. During the summertime I took it upon myself as Chapter President to assume the role of Rush Chair for a second year. I succeeded in recruiting four men prior to fall formal rush. Presenting ourselves as an out-of-house, four-man chapter; made it difficult compete with the other chapters during formal rush. However, it is crucial that Delta Sig is rebuilt on the quality of its men and not the quantity. For these reasons we only recruited one man through traditional rush. Undeclared, we set out to find more, and snapped another man before classes began.

After Fall recruitment we set out as a 10-man chapter to bring about the future of Gamma Iota, a burden that we were proud to undertake, but an opportunity that we are honored to be granted. We are currently looking forward to initiating six new members, and subsequently electing two new Rush Chairmen.

Credit: Uidaho_Dsig Instagram

To the left you'll find four new members tabling at Palousafest 2017 encouraging more men to rush DSIG.

Post-initiation, we will issue six more bids to men approved by ACB, that will pledge in the upcoming spring semester. In addition to the 6 potential new members, our goal is to find 10 more men who meet our standards for pledgship, and initiate at least 11 men by Summertime 2018. This would bring our chapter to a total of 20 men—a five-fold increase—thus setting our fall goal at a minimum of five new pledges so that we may move back into the house in the Fall of 2018.

Y.I.T.B.O.S.
Jonathan Shields,
Pledge Class, 2014
Rush Chairman 2016-2018

Johnny Shields: (208)515-0097
Johnshields@live.com

Credit: Shelby Worley

Pictured above is the day our chapter donated over 900 books to Pi Beta Phi's Philanthropy charity, winning the weekend competition.

"When the going gets tough! . . . The Tough get going!" - John Belushi- Animal House 1978

BETTER MEN, BETTER LIVES

TYE-DYE EVERYTHING WITH DELTA SIGMA PHI

By: Michael Penn

On September 17th, Delta Sigma Phi hosted a tie dye philanthropy event at the University of Idaho. We partnered with Arlene Falcon, the owner of Tye-Dye Everything here in Moscow. The philanthropy had a very large turn out rate, and after paying back all the expenses, we raised just short of five hundred dollars for Opportunities Unlimited in Moscow. This was a very fun event and it was a good way for us to get involved on campus, not only with other Greek houses, but also with those who live in dorms, off campus, and even people that don't attend University of Idaho.

Aside from tie dye, we have quite a bit still planned for this semester. On October 25th, we will be hosting Delta Socks which is a clothes drive with a large emphasis on socks. This is because socks are the most needed but least donated article of clothing in homeless shelters. All of the clothes we receive from this will go to Sojourners Alliance, a local homeless shelter in Moscow.

On Monday, November 13th from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Delta Sigma Phi and Alpha Phi will be partnering to do a blood drive with Red Cross. During this time, individuals from each house will be at the TLC running the blood drive. Our goal for this is to get 25 units of blood donated.

“Culture does not change because we desire to change it. Culture Changes when the organization is transformed; The culture reflects the realities of people working together every day.

-Frances Hesselbein

Credit: Michael Penn

Above: A close up of some of the tie-dyeing in action! Gloves were an essential part of the process, and it made for a heck of a lot easier time with cleanup after the fact.

Below: A photo the flyers we had posted all around campus before the event. Behind you can see the full tables we had throughout the course of the day.

Credit: Michael Penn

DELTA SIGMA PHI GOLF TOURNAMENT

By: Mil DeSilva

Hey! A lot has happened since our last Gamma Eye. I want to start with a huge thanks to McLean, who took on the challenge of rush and absolutely was a vital part of Johnny and the other members growth and maturity. I will let the undergrads speak to the numbers and the guys who are part of our endeavor. I will say these current member undergrads are teaching the young bucks drive and ambition. All of the new members have taken upon themselves to hold a committee position for Delta Sig and to carry out the tasks involved in garnering the Pyramid of Excellence. They've already doubled the amount of Philanthropies we use to do in the fall and have more planned. They are coordinating efforts for us to host our first Blood Drive in a moons age. These young men are eager to be together in one place and want to share the same experience of brotherhood we all once did in the Pyramid. By continually having brotherhood work parties their efforts and contribution are slowly working towards the goal of making the mansion livable again. These guys are our future alumni brothers are fighting just as hard to prove to everyone we are Better Men Better

Lives. We have one the first of many battles but must still win the war. Their fight and will should challenge us all to keep up the work and repay debt anyway we can while the Nile Green Blood still flows at the University of Idaho. Let us have a great turn out for the next Alumni Work party the weekend of November 10-12.

Thanks to those who made the 1st Annual Delta Sig Golf Tournament a success.

From the attendees and sponsors we made $750.

CONGRADULATIONS

- 1st Place Prize 4 tickets to the Albertson Open-Team William "Wild Bill" Smith
- Closest to the Pin Free round of Golf @ Eagle Hills – William Smith
- Longest Drive Free round of Golf @ Eagle Hills - Jake Noll

THANK YOU SPONSORS

ERIC PICKETT #PC1978,
CHRIS HALL #GIFTBASKETSPLUS.COM,
SEAN LEMP #LEMPREALESTATE

Eagle Hills Golf Course showed us a great time, and we have already in discussions of finding a better date for next year's golf tournament. We are looking towards the first week of June. I would love any volunteers who would be willing to help me host this event this time. Also those of you interested in holding events in your local area feel free to do so, Boise isn't the only place to have a good time.

HELP WANTED

We are still looking for someone to fill the financial position of CCAB. If you have any questions about CCAB or the upcoming Golf Tournament feel free to contact me.

CONTACT IF INTERESTED IN CCAB

Mil DeSilva
Cell: (208) 401-4034
desilva.mil@gmail.com

LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE RETREAT

Credit: Sahil Prabhudesai

A REVIEW FROM GAMMA IOTA

By: Michael Bivens

Attending Leadership Institute was one of the most beneficial and memorable time thus far as a Delta Sig, of course nothing beats initiation though. After the lengthy travel session to get there, which was helped by the fact that I was flying with a brother from Utah, we checked into our hotel at four o'clock in the morning only to get up a very short while later to meet the rest of the brothers back at the airport. I had no idea what to expect when I got there. When we met up with the fifty other brothers from across the nation I had the same thought on my mind as everyone else there, these guys probably think they're all top dog, this is going to be a lot of egos under one roof, we're not going to learn anything new--we could not have been more wrong.

We spent time learning just what our leadership style is, and how to utilize them in the most effective ways. We developed an understanding of the values we hold most dear to ourselves and learned that sometimes mistakes are crucial for progress. The speakers gave important lessons; found the weak links and so we could encourage and build them, know when to lead, listen, and when to act. Perhaps most importantly we discovered that as individuals we are weak, as a chapter we are strong, but as a fraternity, we are powerful.

Sure, there were the standard parts of the program of how to develop a goal or how to make an ethical decision. But the real learning took place outside of the classroom, literally. There were several difficult physical activities that stressed our ability to work as a team, to effectively communicate, to listen to the guy in the back who doesn't always speak up. The Team Obstacle Course, the 3-Man Climbing Wall, and Jacob's Ladder were all intensive physical exercises that could only be accomplished when we worked as brothers and utilized our individual skill sets.

There were several times of serious self-reflection that allowed us to more comprehend just what we were learning in just short amounts of time. We reflected on our core values and how they align with our chapters and the national organization. We shared with each other what we stood for, what our beliefs were and what brings us down. We shared our passions and our adversities. This opening up came full force near the programs end. The bonfire showed that the guy you thought was just a meat head and full of ego, actually worried about the same body image issues you do. We saw how some people go through their entire life hiding secrets, but being surrounded by the brotherhood of Delta Sig, that maybe it wasn't so bad to come out and open up.

This program was nothing like any of the numerous leadership retreats, programs, or exercises I have ever attended. We came doubting we would leave as friends. We all heard the warning that we'd leave willing to fly across the nation just to attend each other's weddings, and they were right.

Y.I.T.B.O.S..

-Michael Bivens PC '15

Credit: Thomas Entwit

Thomas Entwit (L), Michael Bivens (R) attending National's President Academy last January.

DREAM GIRL SONG

*"Gath-er a-round you Del-ta Sigs It's time for a ser-e-nade Gath-er a-round my brothers Gath-er a-round my broth-ers true, And Sing to this pret-ty maid. Moon-light on camp-us walks down the lane Ral-lies be-fore that big foot-ball game Here in this mad whirl I found my Dream Girl of Del-ta Sig-ma Phi Hay rides in autumn, proms in the spring That good-night kiss that said ev-'ry-thing Said you were my girl, My dar-ling Dream Girl of Del-ta Sig-ma Phi And then when we've grad-u-a-ted, We will fond-ly re-call All the good times we had to-geth-er,
An in mem-o-ry we'll re-live them all For life was meant to be shared by two, As for my part-ner I've cho-sen you You are that rare pearl My dar-ling Dream Girl of Del-ta Sig-ma Phi
You are that rare pearl My dar-ling Dream Girl of Del-ta Sigma Phi."*